Inquire

I stands for Inquire:

There's no perfect way to start a conversation about mental health – so it's ok if you're finding it hard. It can help to do some research first, and also find a time and place where everyone involved is feeling safe.

When asking, it can help to be specific about the things you've noticed. And remember, you're asking to understand. Understanding your young person's experience can leave you in a better place to respond in a way that helps.

Some ways to try might be:

Q: Hey, I've noticed you seem to have a lot on your mind at the moment. I'd like to hear how it's been for you.

Q: I've noticed that sleep has been harder for you lately. Have you got some ideas about why that might be?

Q: I haven't seen any of your friends recently. How have things been going?

Q: What can I do to be help?

Provide

P stands for Provide.

It's about providing whatever it is you think your young person might need at that time. It will include support, listening, and empathy. Responding in a way that shows you're really listening can make a big impact. Here are some statements that might help.

Statement - I can hear this is really tough for you

Statement – It sounds like it's been impacting lots of areas of your life

Statement - Thank you for sharing with me, I care about how you feel and what you're going through.

Taking the time to really try to understand can show the young person you're a safe place to go to for support, and might mean they end up sharing more. In trying to find the best way to offer some support, it can help to share the decisions with the young person. Some statements that might help are:

Statement – I'd like to find a way that I can be helpful for you. Would that be ok for you?

Statement – It sounds like home is a bit stressful at the moment. Would you like to have a go with me at figuring out some ways to take some of that stress away?

Statement – I'm not feeling very confident about the best way to help at the moment. Would it be ok if we called a service to help us figure out the best way forward?

If you have immediate concerns take them to Emergency or phone 000 and stay with them.
